

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Dino Paoli and United Race Parts Join NASCAR Competition Partner Program

TROUTMAN, NC (December 10, 2021) – Dino Paoli and United Race Parts are proud to announce both brands have joined the NASCAR Competition Partner Program as the SuperSport pit gun supplier for the NASCAR Next Gen car.

“We are very proud to join this program as it underlines our deep commitment to NASCAR since 2018,” said Dino Paoli Commercial Director and Executive Board Member, Federico Galloni. “We are confident this partnership will bring substantial benefits to the promotion of our automotive and industrial product lines to the U.S. market.

The NASCAR Competition Partner Program provides the opportunity for its partners to tout their involvement with NASCAR to their customers and the motorsports industry.

“The Next Gen car has been a product of incredible collaboration across our teams, OEM’s, and a number of partners that have provided input on the car,” said NASCAR SVP of Racing, Jon Probst. “Countless hours of simulation, wind tunnel tests, and lab testing went into optimizing the car for performance and safety. On the track, the Next Gen car has been put through a rigorous testing process and we couldn’t have done it without the support of incredible partnerships.”

“We have worked closely with NASCAR and their partners to ensure the right pit gun — from both an efficiency and safety standpoint — was chosen for the Next Gen car,” said United Race Parts Director, Thomas Decker. “We’re excited to join the Competition Partner Program to help raise awareness of NASCAR and the contribution by Paoli and United Race Parts.”

From left to right: Thomas Decker, Bob Duvall and Federico Galloni

###

(Cont'd)

ABOUT UNITED RACE PARTS, LLC

Founded in 2015, United Race Parts combines its passion, industry experience, loyalty, and product management to create the global pit equipment headquarters. Working directly with teams in more than 25 different championships provides an outreach and knowledge-base unsurpassed in the industry. Through hands-on customer experience, product development, technical expertise and inventory, United Race Parts is a timely asset to any race team. Learn more at www.unitedraceparts.com.

ABOUT DINO PAOLI S.R.L.

For more than 50 years Dino Paoli S.r.l. has been manufacturing professional impact wrenches, with the aim of supplying to every customer — from tire changers and mechanics to workshops and the industry — the best available technologies. Strong, reliable, and long-lasting products are developed building on Paoli's experience. The incessant research and the company know-how made possible the realization of impact wrenches dedicated to the industry field, infrastructures, industrial maintenance, mines, and oil platforms. Furthermore, every customer can benefit from a guaranteed high-quality service and has the opportunity to get in touch with always evolving products.